

SALT LAKE CITY

The Queen of the American Continent.

A FEW OF HER RESOURCES

Briefly Mentioned for the Benefit of the Strangers Now Within Utah's Domain—We Ask Investigation.

Ochres.
Marble works.
Iron paint works.
Cattle on 10,000 hills.
Mountains of granite.
Water power unlimited.
Plenty of room to grow.
Fertilizers inexhaustible.
Portland cement factories.
Artesian wells at 135 feet.
Sheep in a thousand valleys.
A guitar and mandolin factory.
Wonderful wells of natural gas.
Hunting—large and small game.
Pure ice in unlimited quantities.
The finest vegetables in the world.
A peaceful, quiet, orderly community.
Five smelters in the Salt Lake valley.
The finest medicinal springs in the world.
The most orderly communities ever seen.
The best farming country under the sun.
The most wonderful building in America.
The most commodious boiler works in the west.

Gilsonite, a big future for which is in store.
The largest mercantile house west of Chicago.
Abundant evidence of the existence of petroleum.
One good broom factory, and room for another one.
The prettiest trout streams and shadiest cañon nooks.

Gypsum—millions of tons—an inexhaustible supply.
Sash and door factories, and planing mills by the score.
No cyclones, floods, earthquakes, labor riots or anarchists.

The best site for a large city ever gazed upon by mortal eyes.
Gold, silver, lead, antimony, manganese, jewels, copper.
Overall factories, turning out carloads of goods monthly.

The most beautiful and novel watering place in the world.
Book binderies and job printing establishments by the score.
Pure water from the mountain tops.
Drive wells by the hundreds.

Trunk factories—the goods produced no north, south, east and west.
A proprietary medicine establishment with a great future before it.
One of the best systems of electric fire alarm ever erected in America.

The best newspapers, population considered, of any other place known.
A sugar company which will soon have its factories in active operation.
The only remnants of the great buffalo herds that once roamed the plains.

Numerous sampling works, kept busy by the output from our mines.
Less police than any other city of 50,000 people, and less use for them.
A hearty welcome for the enterprising stranger who means business.

Rock salt for the billion—the extent of the supply is yet to be learned.
Wide streets, shady sidewalks, lovely lawns and the coziest of homes.
The world-famed Utah potato, which is sought after both east and west.

Twelve banking institutions whose combined capital reaches into the millions.
Tanneries doing an extensive business and unable to supply the demand.
Every mineral known to the world, save tin, and indications even of that.

Floral establishments whose business extends 500 miles in every direction.
Lime of a superior quality, and mountains upon mountains of limestone.
A silk factory, operated on a small scale, but doing a most excellent business.

White lead works yet in their infancy, but which give the best of satisfaction.
A thousand conveniences that are enjoyed by no other state or territory.
Gas works, giving an excellent quality of gas, and at a most reasonable figure.

Frost in high altitudes in mid-summer and blossoms in winter in low altitudes.
Elegant houses for public amusements, which have held the stars of all nations.
The greatest number of talented musicians of any community of a similar size.

A dozen first class flour mills, whose product is famous both at home and abroad.
Steam laundries that are patronized by all surrounding cities, states and territories.
A sewer system in course of construction, which will be completed within ninety days.

Railways branching in all directions, and the big lines of the east pointing directly at us.
Entire counties of iron—enough to supply the universe, and then have some to export.
Photograph galleries turning out work that will stand alongside of Sarony's or Falk's.

The finest vegetable raising area in the United States—or any where else, for that matter.
The finest livery turnouts in the United States—away in advance of any of the territories.
Stocking factories giving employment to many hands. The goods go out in every direction.

The only genuine asphalt mine in the United States. The beds cover many miles of ground.
Artists who can "paint all around" any of their brethren in the western states and territories.
A telephone exchange second to none in the west, and connecting some five hundred subscribers.

Cracker factories commanding an extensive trade in Utah and elsewhere in the mountain region.
A discriminating theatre-going people, quick to appreciate the good, certain to condemn the bad.
A new find in the shape of semi-anthracite coal, which promises a revolution in the coke business.

Sulphur incomparably purer than that imported from Sicily—easy of access and limitless in quantity.
Skilled mechanics and competent architects, whose hands and brains are kept busy the year through.
Cool and convenient spots where one may escape what little discomfort follows from the warm weather.

A well-conducted and an incandescent light plant, furnishing illumination for street, store and residence.
Unlimited supplies of salt in the Great Salt Lake, from which is manufactured mining, cattle, table and dairy.
The finest hotels between Denver and San Francisco, all doing an excellent business in consequence of the big tourist trade.

A first class match factory, doing an immense business, and yet it does not stop importation.
The foundation for one of the finest parks in the west, and which is hourly being improved.

Soap factories that compete with any others in prices, and turn out an excellent quality of goods.

Canon scenery of the grandest—that brings tourists thousands of miles and sends them away delighted.

Woolen mills whose products are famous both at home and abroad, and which give employment to many people.

Building stone in every canon, of every conceivable color and texture, and in quantities sufficient to build a world.

Coal enough to supply the whole of America. Half of the veins will never be touched in a century from now.

The best breweries west of the river; their beverages are famous throughout the mountain states and territories.

A driving park, which has been honored by the fastest horses in the country, and which is pronounced the equal of any similar institution.

Fifteen miles of electric street railway now and prospects of fifty miles within the year. It is, without doubt, the finest electric railway plant in the United States.

Several institutions making furniture of all kinds and competing with the eastern manufacturing, both as to the quality and the price.

A mammoth boot and shoe factory, which competes with the world, and several smaller establishments doing a lucrative business.

Representatives of every eastern and western railway of any importance, are seeking a share of the big business yearly transacted.

The finest climate ever enjoyed by mortal man—"The Ideal Climate"—four distinct seasons, each equable; no intense cold, no extreme heat.

Cigar factories second to none in the quality of goods turned out, which receive substantial recognition both from home and foreign consumers.

The most wonderful warm and hot sulphur springs, the peers of anything similar on the American continent, and whose virtues will yet attract patients from all parts of the civilized world.

THE HERALD, the liveliest and brightest paper between Denver and San Francisco—whose aims are the welfare of the people, the building up of the territory in general, and Salt Lake in particular.

Large candy factories, doing an extensive trade in Utah, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, Wyoming and Arizona, and they are constantly being added to in order to meet the pressing demands.

The most beautiful of mountain lakes, at altitudes ranging from five thousand to thirteen thousand feet. Gems which bring hither the artist, the tourist, and all admirers of the beautiful in nature.

The finest marble veins ever opened in America, which show every color from pure Parian white to a deep jet black, all susceptible of a high polish, and there are quantities sufficient to build up an entire state.

The only Great Salt Lake—the equal of which for bathing purposes has yet to be discovered. It is visited by hundreds of thousands yearly, and its fame extends over the civilized world. Connected with this are the most elegant appointments ever seen at any watering place in the country.

You Take No Risk
In buying Hood's Sarsaparilla, for it is everywhere recognized as the standard building-up medicine and blood purifier. Its action is the way to the front by its own intrinsic merit, and has the largest sale of any preparation of its kind. Any honest druggist will confirm this statement. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy anything else instead. Be sure to get Hood's.

NEURALGIA CAUSES MUCH IN SANITY.
The highest medical authorities of Europe and America have recently decided that a large percentage of cases of insanity is caused by the excruciating pains of neuralgia of the head and face. If any member of your family suffers this torment, induce them to try Ballard's Snow Liniment. One application will afford immediate relief and you will soon be rid of a dangerous and tormenting disease. Ballard's Snow Liniment is the most penetrating liniment known. It positively cures rheumatism, lame back, contracted muscles, old sores, corns, bunions, etc. It penetrates and opens the pores, drawing all poisonous matter to the surface, restoring and promoting a natural circulation of the blood through the diseased parts.—ILL.

REMINISCENCE OF THE JOHNSTOWN FLOOD.
Soon after the great flood of the Congamung Valley, Pa., last summer, the press dispatches heralded the news of an epidemic of diarrhoea at Johnstown. The following letter from Rev. H. L. Chapman, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, Johnstown, gives the particulars and most successful remedy used:

"The box of six dozen Chamberlain's Colic, Diarrhoea and Dysentery Remedy, which you sent at the suggestion of Hon. Wesley Redhead, reached us soon after the great flood and at a time when diarrhoea was quite prevalent. As soon as it became known that I had the medicine for distribution, there began a great run on it, which continued until it was about all gone. Every one, so far as I heard from them, testified to its virtues, declaring it the best medicine for the purpose they had ever used. Those who got it shared it around with their neighbors, so that I am confident your generosity in sending it was productive of great good. We used some of it ourselves and found it not only an excellent medicine for diarrhoea, but for all kinds of pain and uneasiness in the stomach and bowels. It has been regarded as the best medicine known here for the diseases it is recommended for. In view of your sending such a large quantity for free distribution among poor people, I think you are entitled to this testimonial in its favor."

THE LIEBIG MEDICAL STAFF
Now Visiting Utah.
The staff of eminent European Specialists, Dr. Liebig & Co., from the Liebig World Dispensary and International Surgical Institute, of Kansas City, Mo., and San Francisco, are now visiting Utah, and have offices for Free Consultation at Cliff House, Salt Lake, Monday and Tuesday, July 7 and 8; at Broom Hotel, Ogden, July 9 and 10; and at Pharmacy Building, Provo, July 11 and 12. The only favor desired being the recommendation of all friends. Incurables will not be taken, but will be frankly told, so as to avoid unprofitable "cure alls" who will accept fees from anyone. Remember that the Liebig staff are the only responsible San Francisco Specialists visiting Utah quarterly. Come early, as afternoon and evening offices will be crowded.

A STRANGE CASE IN GEORGIA.

Queer Mixture of Shooting Affairs, Sensational Justification and Prayer.

The recent trial of Maj. Charles E. McGregor at Warrenton, Ga., for the killing of J. M. W. Cody, proved sensational in every feature from start to finish.

Early one evening some six months ago Mr. Cody was standing with others in front of English's store at Warrenton. McGregor walked up, pulled a pistol, and holding it in both hands fired three shots. Cody fell dead. One ball went through his body, another entered below the right ear, and the third crashed through the left temple. McGregor was arrested, and after spending nearly half a year in prison was put on trial for his life.

He read a remarkable statement in his own behalf. He said that soon after dark one evening a year ago last December he was shot while entering the gate to his yard by an unknown assassin.

Cody was at defendant's home almost every day after the shooting, and offered to give $50 towards a reward for the apprehension of the murderer. The two men had been friends for years, but when McGregor got well and began an investigation he found that Cody was the man who had attempted to slay him. When confronted with the proofs Cody said: "Mac, I did shoot you. I ask mercy for my wife and child. I don't wish to live, for I am miserable, and have had no rest since then. I would give all I have if I could recall that shot." Yet, McGregor claimed, Cody made still other essays upon his life, and at last he killed the man in self defense.

The defendant punctuated his statement by stripping to the waist and showing the jury the marks left by Cody's bullet. It had entered at the right side, below the right breast, and ranging downward had passed out on the left side.

The evidence all tended to substantiate McGregor's assertions. Two questions, however, arose: Was the defendant in danger of his life at the time he killed Cody? and, what was the cause of the enmity that prompted the dead man to make the initial assault?

The first of the two issues was left for the jury to determine. The second issue, judge, prosecuting attorney and defendant's lawyers tried to ignore.

But it forced its way to the surface. One of the witnesses offered certain testimony. It could not be refused. "It is my painful duty to permit its admission," said Judge Lumpkins.

Then it came out that there was a woman in the case; that her name was Du Bose, and that both Cody and McGregor desired to back in her smiles, each at the expense of the other.

When the jury retired every one breathed freely again. It was felt that the strain was over and that McGregor would be acquitted promptly. But he was not. Twenty-four hours passed, then forty-eight, and still no verdict. Juror Baker demanded the prisoner's conviction. His companions argued, entreated, swore, threatened.

On the morning of the fourth day Juror Heath fell on his knees and prayed. He asked that the soul of Baker might be softened and that he might show pity to McGregor and his family. Baker was crying when the prayer ended, and said he was willing to let McGregor go.

Verdict, not guilty.

Bobtail—Fifty pounds a night, I hear.—American Grocer.

Fit Comes Later.
"So you had your clothes made by Worth? Did you get a good fit?"

"No; my husband will have the fit when the bill comes in."—Liverpool Post.

A Branch.
First Society Lady—Have you heard that Mrs. Jones died last night?

Second Society Lady—Is that so? Why, the woman owes me a visit.—Exchange.

Short-hand Language.
"One col." he brusquely announced as he entered a gent's furnishing store on upper Broadway.

"Col." replied the girl in attendance as she took down a collar and wrapped it up.

"Much?" he queried, as he toyed with a silver piece.

"Quar dol," she answered as she gave him the change.

"O. K.," he said, as he turned back. "Cret." she replied, as she went away to finish waiting on an old man who had been looking at neckties.
